Gold Exports Nearly $50,000,000 for Year-Steel Tonnage Decrease a Check-Closing Firm.

NEW YORK, June 10.-Speculation was held down to minimum proportions when the stock market opened today. There was nothing in the way of new informa-tion to guide traders, and few changes of consequence were effected in quotations.

Movements were irregular.
Slight gains were in the majority, but a number of active shares, including Steel, Reading and Southern Pacific, were at or elow yesterday's close. The probability that a considerable de crease in unfilled tonnage would be shown in the United States Steel monthly repor in the day held the steel group in American Smelting rose a point and Distilleries 1½, with heaviness in some other specialties.

The tractions were not favorably affected by declaration of an extra 5 per cent dividend for Interborough Rapid Transit, whose preferred stock fell back a point.

Bonds Are Steady.

Another gold engagement of $2,000,000 for Europe was announced, making the aggregate of that movement thus far this year close to $50,000,000. Bonds were steady.

Steel shares were not affected by the decrease of 278,000 tons shown in the United States Steel monthly state-ment, which was in line with expecta-tions. Greater activity was reported in certain branches of the steel trade. Additional encouraging state crop forecasts were received and cable ad-vices told of a turn for the better in foreign political and financial conditions.

The market made no response to these bullish indications, holding virtually unchanged during the early aft-

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK. June 10.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 6 points under relatively easy cables. but offerings were readily taken around the initial figures and prices soon rallied. The forecast for generally fair weather in the eastern belt and apprehension of high temperatures as well as continued drouth, probably checked the selling movement, and also inspired some demand. The market recovered all but a point or two of the opening loss and ruled generally steady during the early trading.

SAYS RIDE TO SOMERSET IS RAILROAD COURTESY

Counsel So Informs Interstate Commerce Commission in Arguing Rate Case.

When the so-called Somerset rate cas was argued this morning members of sought by their questions to determine the practice of the railroad company in the past in dealing with Somerset. This case involves the proposal of the Washington Railway and Electric Company and its allied lines, the Washing-ton and Rockville railway and the Georgetown and Tenleytown railway, to collect an extra cash fare each way between the District line and Somerse although at present passengers ride from points in the District to Somerset

Chairman Clements asked S. R. Bower Chairman Clements asked S. R. Bowen, who argued the case for the railroads, if the whole case didn't rest on the question of where the city ends and the country begins, rather than a division by the District line or any other means. Counsel replied that it must be a zone system, and the railroad elected to start the zone at the District line. However, Commissioner Clements insisted that it was a case of density of population which should decide where the railroad should establish its zone.

Opening the argument Mr. Bowen declared that the ride from the District line to Somerset was merely a courtesy on the part of the railroad granted to its passengers, only one fare being collected for the ride in the District. This ed for the ride in the District. This statement brought forth a series of questions from Commissioner McChord, who first asked if the railroad collected a fare for the return ride. Attorney Bowen declared that only one fare was collected, and he didn't know whether or not this was collected in the District line or before the car reached the line.

Then the Commissioner asked if a passenger would be allowed to ride south to the next station without paying the five cents, in view of the fact that the ride between the District line and Somerset was a courtesy. Attorney Bowen could not answer the question.

Attorney Daish, arguing for the com-

Attorney Daish, arguing for the complainants, declared that he had never been connected with a case at which so little evidence had been produced by the railroads to justify their proposed increases. He declared further that all railway lines take their properties. rafiway lines take their passengers as far beyond the District line as is necessary to find a suitable place for their discharge.

charge.

He told the commission that he had tried in every way possible to have the railroads produce figures to show whether or not the rates were remunerative, in order to help the commission to reach a decision in the case, but he declared he had utterly falled because counsel for the railroads had objected to every guestion. question.

He asserted further that the railroads had declared that the Washington and Rockville and Georgetown and Tenleytown roads had lost money in operation in the past year, but called attention to the high earnings of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, which he termed the parent company. Declaring that the railroads had not justified the proposed increase, he asked that the
